ORDER:

The Committee in its report on issues relating to safety and security of women and girls in Telangana State while referring to the Saksham Report (2013) made a recommendation that an indicative course module on gender sensitization & workshop series on gender, masculinity and issues pertaining to sexual harassment and knowledge about the laws and rights can be suitably modified and used as per the training requirements. The Committee further recommended for compulsory inclusion of child sex abuse prevention, gender inequalities and social/ human values in the educational institutions curriculum with age appropriate content and pedagogy stating that there is a need to re-examine the existing curriculum. The Committee further recommended that the curriculum should also include some of the major laws related to women and provide children with some understanding of what is good and bad behaviour and act as a deterrent and prevent wrong behaviour related to gender roles and responsibilities and sexual behaviour and violence.

2. The Government, after careful consideration of the matter, hereby constitute a committee for the Education Department including Technical Education, Intermediate Education, Collegiate Education, Universities in Telangana State for review of course material with the following officials.
